- 25X1A
- From 11 p.m. on 2 October to 00:30 a.m. the following day three biplanes circled over Dresden-Klotzsche airfield. Between 10 and 11 a.m. on 5 October, three biplanes took off. [REDACTED], occupied by 20 Russian women in civilian clothes, was observed leaving the field. The radar set and two radio trucks were being transferred from the garden of the Lufthansa building to the northern section of the field, about 100 meters from the end of the spur track.
  - At 6 p.m. on 9 October, a biplane took off. The plane had no number only a white Soviet star on its fuselage and the following white-bordered tactical symbol on its rudder assembly:  *
- * [REDACTED] Comment. Dresden-Klotzsche airfield is occupied by a Soviet Army unit, an MVD unit, and an unidentified air force unit which possibly is a motor vehicle driving school. See [REDACTED]. The radio trucks and the radar set probably belong to the army unit. See [REDACTED].
